Rush Week

Our rush week consists of a series of recruitment events with the purpose of finding qualified students to whom we would like to offer membership into Alpha Kappa Psi. They take place twice a year in September and April, and these events are publicized to thousands of UCLA students with participation from hundreds of different students. The marketing for these events take place immediately at the beginning of Fall and Spring quarter. Associating your company to our organization during this time would be extremely worthwhile because of our high visibility and presence on campus. The level of online traffic to our website is higher, and we distribute over 10,000 flyers regarding our organization and these events all over UCLA. Our programs for rush week are well-organized and attended by hundreds of students. Having your company logo displayed on our website, brochures, flyers, and events during rush week will garner your company the most attention.

Professional Events

Alpha Kappa Psi hosts and co-hosts several professional workshops, informational sessions, and career fairs on different topics every year. These events are prestigious and well-planned with attendance from hundreds to thousands of various students. Marketing efforts for these events include distribution of flyers, e-mail blasts, and classroom announcements to countless students and staff members. Your company could be publicized well in association with these events, and your firm can even discuss the possibility of hosting these kinds of events with the support Alpha Kappa Psi by contacting the Vice President of Administration.
